GOOD FEEDING NOW IS MONEY IN ITHE BANK FOR STATE SHEEPMEN
Lambs that gain the fastest will grade the highest at market time.
A little extra feed and care in getting lambs started right may make a considerable difference in the profits from the sheep business.
Ewes should be fed grain and hay before they lamb to prevent pregnancy disease and other nutritional deficiencies to insure strong lambs and a good milk supply. Usually 1/2 pound of grain and 4 pounds of legume hay beginning one month before lambing is enough.
After lambing the ewes should receive at least 1 1/2 pounds of grain and 4 to 6 pounds of legume hay. If possible, keep ewes with twin lambs separate from ewes with single lambs, so the ewes nursing twins can be fed extra. Good quality silage can replace one-half of the hay, but it takes 3 pounds of silage to equal one pound of hay.
Other timely tips for sheepmen: Heat lamps or lamb brooders are very valuable in saving weak or chilled lambs.
Castration and docking should be done before the lambs are two weeks old.
Creep-feeding of lambs will pay from the time the lambs are two weeks old until spring pastures are good. Ground or cracked shelled corn is the best creep ration, and will make lambs 10 pounds heavier at market time, or get them on the market two weeks sooner and usually in a higher grade.

Road Plea Made by Appomattox Farmers

The cry: "Get Virginia out of the mud" has resounded for decades over the Old Dominion, and there is no let-up in the plea for better roads. Although much has been done —and, fortunately, paid for— the demand for better roads is no stronger today as when man progressed from horseback to a Model T for transportation.

Take yesterday, for example.

Over 60 citizens appeared at a road hearing before the Appomattox Board of Supervisors. Nearly all were farmers and rural residents. Fresh from the recent "battle of the snow drifts" and its memorable experiences, they were in the mood to contend for an expanded and hastened road program as a real emergency.

The citizens came from all sections of the county, and each was ready to submit the needs of his area.

The sad truth dampened the atmosphere, for the financial drain of the recent "ground hog" weather has been felt in handling moneys available, and this is worsened by the sure fact that a big job has to be done now to barely get roads "back to where they were." This is going to have a bearing on what is to be expended for new long-range improvement.

A ray of hope was suggested by one citizen who detailed the situation and felt that in an emergency, emergency funds should be tapped, and that every state and federal source should be used for money to keep rural residents from isolation.

Typical of the plight of farmers was the case of dairymen, who sustained severe losses when isolated last month. Grade A milk has to reach the market in Grade A condition, and that permits no hold-over until roads can be opened up. Dairying is a rapidly expanding business in Appomattox County. Grade A milk from this county moves to the Washington - Maryland and to the Newport News area. And what with tobacco acreages being repeatedly cut, under present federal policies, to the point of making this a secondary source of income where it was formerly the top cash crop, more and more farmers are turning to live-stock for a living. But good roads are a "must." In fact, most anything the farmer attempts to do on his land today, depends upon good roads. Even in the facts of life as to school bus transportation, rural mail routes, etc., and the time apparently has arrived when the farmer is more interested in modern roads than ever.

Progress has been slow. Appomattox County has been getting up to but seldom ever ten miles a year of secondary road hard-surfacing. At the going rate, estimates vary from 50 years up as the time clock for hard-surfacing of county secondary roads. Lots of people now living will not be around to see it. And for every mile of new hard-surfacing, and/or all-weather roads, the cost of maintenance and resurfacing goes up. You don't just blacktop a road and then forget about it.

One immediate goal is to start at once on a program of widening rural roads and straightening rights-of-way. One citizen who was at yesterday's meeting pointed out that on just one stretch of a local rural road, nearly three miles could be saved in the culvade still rusted out, the bridges were still on bad S curves, the roads were still often just one lane, the banks were often in reverse, and that it was a miracle that anyone got anyplace safely.

Upshot of the hearing: an appeal for more money may be made. In event it is not forthcoming, the local highway forces will struggle along to do the best they can with an inadequate budget, and the hands of the local board of supervisors are tied, and the plight of the rural residents in Virginia is not local but general, and most other counties have the same problems. All in all, the road hearing was not encouraging as to positive results, and although a generous spirit of cooperation and good-will prevailed, there was in some quarters a feeling that farmers must join together in a crusade for modern roads.

COUNTY SHARE-THE-FUN CONTEST WINNER

Lina Trent, above, won first in the under 14 age group, of the Appomattox County 4-H Share-the-Fun Contest here Tuesday night at the Elementary School. The baton twirling Lina, a 4th grader at Appomattox Elementary School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Trent.

Second place in the contest went to Harriett Harvey, of Vera, and third place went to Herbie Pulliam and Joyce Edmonds. Harriett did a reading, while Herbie and Joyce did a polka dance.

A singing trio from Hebron Club, Winifred Lee, Barbara Lee and Betty Jean Alvis, won in the over 14 age contest. Judges were Mrs. Lucille Ferrell, Mrs. Rachel Lawson, and Edd Dickerson.

Twenty-one 4-H clubs were represented in the countywide contest. Some 160 had participated in the individual club contests. About 300 persons attended the county finals.

To Attend Band Festival

The Appomattox Band will go to Richmond Saturday, March 15, to attend the District I and III Music Festivals.

The festival will be held at the Douglas Freeman High School. There will be 20 bands entering the contest. There will be sections for solo, and ensemble work. Five students from Appomattox Band are entering.

Joyce Moon: baritone solo
Jerry Martin: sousaphone solo and trombone solo
Walter Hunter, trombone solo
Moses Diskins: clarinet solo
Arnold Whitehead: tenor saxophone solo and clarinet solo.

The only reason the full band is not entering the various festivals and contests to represent Appomattox County as a full band, is the lack of band uniforms.

County Dairymen Had Dinner Meeting

About 50 persons attended a dinner meeting of Appomattox dairymen at Hotel Appomattox last Tuesday evening. The dairymen and their wives heard Dr. Roy Blazer, of V. P. I. discuss the developing of a better forage program in this county. He showed slides taken on his recent study in New Zealand, revealing the amazing pasture program in that country. He suggested a spring hay and silage program, when there is more moisture as one remedy, but pointed out that there can be no local 12-month pasture program.

A tablespoon of butter or margarine added to the boiling water will keep macaroni or spaghetti from sticking together. It will also prevent boiling over.

IN STATE ORATORICAL CONTEST FINALS

Miss Peyton Abbitt, talented student at Appomattox High School, yesterday won the right to participate in the state finals of the American Legion Oratorical Contest. The finals will be held March 19 at Lane High School, Charlottesville.

Miss Abbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Abbitt, Jr., yesterday was the winner in Zone Finals for Districts I, II and IV. In this zone contest, she won over Margaret Ann Mulqueen, of Norfolk, II District champion, and Joe Samuel Frank, of Newport News, I District champion in a contest held at Powhatan.

The American Legion Oroatorica Contest is an annual affair. State winner will receive a $350 prize, and second and third prizes will be $100 and $50.

May Organize County Ministerial Association

Appomattox may soon have a County Ministerial Association. A meeting of ministers of all denominations will be held at 1430 next Monday at Hotel Appomattox, followed by dinner at 6:00. Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss formation of a Ministerial Association.

TOWN - COUNTRY INSTITUTE HERE

A successful Town and County Institute was held here at Liberty Baptist Church Monday afternoon and evening, with 35 ministers and civic leaders attending.

W. P. Lawrence presided at the afternoon session, Principal Kenneth Christopher discussed Problems in the School. County Judge Chas. F. P. Crawley presented a discussion on Youth in the Community. Judge Crawley cited figures to show that in the past 24 years, there have been only 229 cases in the local juvenile court, less than 10 a year. He discussed the problems of the juvenile court.

County Agent Jim Smith presided at the evening meeting, at which Rev. R. A. Bergdoll discussed Interchurch cooperation and Rev. Colie Rock discussed the work of churches in the field of recreation.

New Car Tags Go On Sale

Mr. Dickerson reports that approximately 3,250 motor vehicle tags were sold here for the 1957 license period. This included 2,662 passenger cars.

Motor vehicle owners received forms for purchasing the 1958 tags a few days ago. Mr. Dickerson asks that owners get their new tags early to prevent a last minute rush. He is open from 8 to 5:30.
